All Saints Church

This afternoon you'll visit All Saints Church at Kingston. The building was originally the Commissariat Store and is one of the best examples of Georgian architecture in this area of the world. The complex consists of the main building and several outbuildings within a high wall, and was completed in 1835. The main building's ground floor contained an office, meals room and store. The first floor housed an engineer's store, and the third floor a grain store. The basement contained a liquor store and a general store. In 1874 the building was converted to a church by removing the first floor to create a double-storey space and is used as the All Saints Anglican Church today. You'll be able to sing in this historic church this afternoon as your accompanist plays the organ. We will practice songs for the Kapyong Service and Anzac Day

Walk inside the circular painting and be surrounded by the immense artwork. A spectacular 3D effect is achieved in this painting with its detailed artwork and realistic perspective and the story that traces the history of the Bounty leaving England through Tahiti, Pitcairn Island and arrival at Norfolk Island in 1856.

However, taking pride of place is the 1876 Henry (Father) Willis organ located in a spacious chamber to the south-east of the building.
